CARBIDE CHAIN OF AMERICA

The Sabretooth Carbide Tipped Chain is designed to cut through virtually any material fire fighters encounter; tin roofing, wood, nails, roll up doors, etc. The patented design allows the chain to cut through much harder material faster and for longer periods than other carbide tipped chains.

Recommended for standard fire department ventilation and cutting light industrial/residential building materials. Can also be used for wildland applications.

Carbide Chain of America chains are manufactured to be the most robust, longest lasting chains you will ever use. From the chassis to the teeth, every detail has been designed to provide you with the best product available.

FEATURES

- Anti-Kickback Safety-Link
- Heavy-Duty .404 .063 Chassis
- Specially designed carbide, stays sharper longer
- Self-Cleaning Double Raker and Edge Protection Sytem
- High-Heat Silver Solder

The Cobra Carbide Tipped Chain is designed to cut through harder materials than the Sabretooth. With a tooth on each link, the chain cuts in a filing motion rather than a ripping and tearing motion. This filing motion allows the Cobra Chain to cut through industrial grade roll-up doors and commercial/industrial building materials.

Recommended for cutting harder materials such as metal buildings, roll-up doors, nails, etc.
